Ms. Brehme,

You are attempting to defend something started outside of your own action a long time ago that is indefensible. You know it.

You have made an enemy of this informational memespace network that I have had to resort to informational warfare tactics to lead this persuasive argument down this road into persuasive not coercive change.

This because you irrationally do not listen, have contempt for, and would rather clients die than have to see us thrive.

As bad as it sounds, it is rational conclusions of a jury that will see the whole record before them --- and say what?

Why do you defend something that is indefensible?

The only answer that can rationally be concluded is there is a "fear" based meme directing or controlling you into these actions that you are enslaved upon.

As warped or twisted as this sounds.

You are brainwashed by a hater at the top of this -- using intimidation and fear --- loss of job --- and hell fury if you betray "The Great Plan" designed, routed, and put into motion and action a long time ago.

You would be under some kind of hostility yourself. That is called intimidation and coercion.

I was a former Notary Public and this is at heart of why such a role exists in our collective society as a Notary --- to ensure the integrity of our relations.

You are not acting of your own free will.

For that defense, I will defend onto the record and keep you from having greater harm for coming forward.

You cannot keep this hate collective perplexing stand.

Your entire life will be toast --- because you refused to see rational reasoning before the allegiances to this hate.

YOU CANNOT CONTINUE TO SAY THAT I AM OFF THE MARK. BECAUSE I KNOW I AM TRUE, I AM OF THE HEART OF SIN, I DO KNOW WHEN SIN IS REAL SIN, and SIN IS NOT.

You know that what you are doing is wrong.

You know at heart that what I am actually doing is something great.

Why you have such a hate for a segment of our society is between you and your GOD during purgatory.

I say you are acting so strange to come to some kind of reckoning of your faith belief or your job.

If you have "moral objections" to service clients that you hold the belief deserve to die then you should quit your job before you send such clients/persons on a court path of life to die.

In that you have the choice of that because you have a human mind, you have a human emotional conscience, and you have been given God's free will to make that choice.

No one is making you do anything that you can't be mindfully aware of and think it through rationally. No one is forcing you to anything but to see the error in your murderous ways. Not from this side of the informational bits and bytes passing into your mindway.

It is a sin to jeopardize the life safety of any human being on behalf of what you hold is God's word. If you really put yourself on the stand at court trial and confess your belief in this --- I will give you the mindset of your convictions of conscience. But I highly doubt it that with all of the deception and shadow work and secrets, that your own human mentality of right over wrong would compel you to make that standing oath onto a court record.

You would break at that point.

But you must break at this point.

You have not understood the entire set of circumstances that is before the record I hold to my ability to bring forward this record that has been journaled with extreme care --- and is open public as we speak for anyone to see the truth at the first point when the case makes it to a public filing.

Anyone with a set of interest to defend something that is as indefensible as this is ---- is literally whacked out insane --- and it would be best that you quit your job as a mental health therapist than to bestow that insanity onto your patients.

Liars are never rewarded...

The Truth Will Always Be Exposed.

How can you sit there and say, you did this freely, you placed this statement in an email to me, when it is a lie. You could not even make it from your own ID, you had to create a proxy fake email address.

Get real lady... get real!

The jury is not so dimwitted -- 12 rational persons randomized picked by a court trial process. It is not possible to put this mindset of prevaricating from the truth --- to go unnoticed when indeed I have an image to this with a liar emoji:

Good Morning Mr. Driskill,

Not sure if you recall; our housing department endeavored to help you with various options over the last several months. Most recently, you stated that you were not willing to consider any option that did not include a letter from FAP "guaranteeing that you would not be evicted" from the next situation. Since we (obviously) could not do that, you opted out. Am I hearing that you've had a change of heart?

Please do clarify if you are no longer asking for such a letter.

Regards,

Jennifer Brehme

My friend tells me that I should give you the benefit of the doubt and accept that your position here was a misunderstanding based upon the information that Michael told you. I obviously did not request inquire or direct Michael in any way to place a "guarantee against eviction" --- that is not a possible thing to guarantee. What I said to him was -- there can be no mistaking the agenda I have in mind --- to be able to identify the haters that hate and harass and retaliate against me, as a part is a certain "public social media" profile -- and that request is a conflict of interest of "The Great Plan".

Then the shift becomes whether Michael was deceiving you thus you deceived me.

Michael or You or both of you collectively are at a dilemma which to move forward -- your agenda or mine. You intentionally choose yours.

If you take yourself out of the path of this lie, you took Michael's agenda that would not be yours,

That is called passing on a lie. In my world of practicing morals. It is a greater sin to pass on a lie when you know it is a lie than to be the first source of the lie itself.

Thus we come back to Notary. That is the role of a notary -- to ascertain a person is of their own free will -- when they are acting so contrary to the actual reality before them.

You indeed are not acting of your own free will.

I want to know his, her, or their names. It may not be you - face to face - but you are the one in the most innocent role here --- a pawn to haters --- they don't give a fuck about you --- they can care less if you are "e crying one day --- joyous the next --- as long as you don't break the tenant allegiances --- to carry forward "The Great Plan" --- you are involved in a cult holding you to slavery.

I know it.

I want to know who it is?

The leader of this pack.

I want to know his, her, or their names.

You can pass a secret message --- that is why there is an external view of the messaging here --- you are not the one who can be called down for breaking the line --- the line was shifted to a different paradigm.
